

Ambu launches aCart™ platform to strengthen single-use endoscopy offering

Ambu – the leader in the fast-growing medtech market of single-use endoscopy – launches the new aCart™ platform to further strengthen its global position. The platform consists of two launches – aCart™ Compact and aCart™ Plus – on which displaying units, endoscopes, and additional accessories can be placed and transported easily. The carts are designed to be compatible with Ambu's full endoscopy portfolio, and to improve workflows across hospital sites of care, including endoscopy suites, Intensive Care Units and Operating Rooms.

"Improving workflow is more important than ever for our customers, as they manage through covid restrictions and labour shortages," says Bassel Rifai, Chief Marketing Officer at Ambu. "With this launch we strengthen our workflow offering, which will accelerate the uptake of single-use endoscopy. The launch will put further distance between Ambu's portfolio and our competitors', which will allow us to win additional market share."

The carts will launch globally across Ambu's portfolio in pulmonology, ENT, urology, and gastroenterology settings.

Most comprehensive offering in single-use endoscopy

The carts are the latest products in Ambu's single-use offering. Ambu has pioneered the field since the launch of the world's first single-use flexible bronchoscope, the Ambu® aScope™, in 2009.

Today, Ambu offers endoscopes and displaying units in what is the most comprehensive range of single-use endoscopy devices on the market. A range which will be further expanded with 20 new launches by 2022/23 in order to increase patient safety and improve healthcare workflows.
